

C++ program to implement setw & setfill

Write a simple C++ program that prints ten fourfour with a width of 10 in between the ten and fourfour.

Follow that up with a padding of 80 dashes.

- You cannot manually/hardcode 80 dashes literally
- You must use manipulators to create this consecutive dash pattern

Output:

```
ten      fourfour
-----
```